BILLS FIRST TIME

J. M. Arnow, of the 4th District, to incorporate St. Mary's Log Rafting Company.

A bill to submit the question of a State Convention to the people.

Also, a bill empowering the Governor to extend aid from the State to cities and towns in times of the existence of epidemical diseases when the authorities of the same call upon him for aid; also a bill to incorporate the St. Mary's and Alapaha Canal Company; also a bill to induce into the State of Georgia, as citizens, immigrants from the most intelligent and industrious agricultural classes, and the most skillful artisans and manufacturers of Europe:

A bill to be entitled an act to induce into the State of Georgia, as citizens, emmigrants from among the most intelligent and industrious agricultural classes, and the most skillful artisans and manufacturers of Europe.

Whereas, experience every where has shown that no influence has been so great and none so successful in inducing such settlements and such industries in this country, as that of enabling the people from the continent of Europe to farm among themselves separate and compact settlements, where, until they have become familiarized with their new surroundings and become gradually merged in the interests of the commonwealth, they may retain and enjoy, free from immediate proximity of a people speaking a different language, the habits, customs, amusements and associations of their mother country; that from such settlements or colonies in the Western and Northwestern States, there has grown up flourishing agricu tural districts, seats of trade, manufactures, schools, colleges, churches and refinement; that they serve not only the purpose of bringing followers, from the relatives, friends and neighbors of the original colonist, but also serve the purpose of keeping away the idle and vicious of their native country; that under these circumstances these soon become attached to their new homes, feel that they are in a free country, and one that is to be, as with all Georgians, an inheritance for their children, and whereas experience having also shown that with such inducements the ratio of increase, by accession from the mother country, has always been in proportion to the original settlement or colony, and as it is of the highest importance to the State to increase and improve by such skillful aids, and as rapidly as possible the agricultural productions of Georgia to employ to the best advantage its utmost unlimited water power, and to work successfully its mines, etc.,

The General Assembly of the State of Georgia do hereby enact, That the Governor d appoint, subject to ratification by the Senate, a Commissioner of Immigration, and if said appointment cannot be made while the Legislature in session, it shall be subject to ratification or rejection by the Senate when the Legislature next convened, and said Commissioner, with the advice and consent of the Governor and Secretary of State, shall purchase or receive as donations, in whole or in part, from individuals, corporations or counties, two or more separate tracts of land, of not less than five thousand acres each, and as near that number of acres as may be obtained in one body, one or more of which shall be in the middle or upper part of the State, where the cereals are best produced, and on which good water power for manufacturing purposes can be had; and one or more to be selected in the best cotton growing section, and dispose of said tracts to intelligent and influential agriculturists and manufacturers of Europe who shall stipulate, under good and sufficient guarantees, to settle not less than one hundred families on each tract within three years from the date of agreement; as a further inducement the land shall be sold by said Commissioner, with the advice and consent of the Governor and Secretary of State, at a price not to exceed the cost of said land to the State, and upon a credit of ten years, the first four years without interest, and the following years to our interest at three per cent. per annum; and the buyer or buyers at any time after all stipulations have been in good faith complied with, have the right to make the payment, with accrued interest, and obtain titles in full from the State.

Sec 2. The said Commissioner of Immigration shall be paid a salary of —— dollars per annum, and shall have his office at the capital of the State and shall employ a clerk at a salary of —— dollars, if in the judgement of the Governor and Secretary of State the services of such clerk is required; and that with the view of carrying out this colony scheme and plan for increasing the industries of the State as early as practicable, the Commissioner of Immigration may, if deemed best by the Governor and Secretary of State, visit Europe and negotiate there with parties as herein provided for and shall have such discretionary powers not in conflict with the specific terms of this act, which will be necessary in carrying out its spirit and intent in accordance with the foregoing preamble.

Sec. 3. Be it further enacted, That for the purpose of purchasing said lands, if they are not donated by the counties wherein they may be selected, or by corporations or individuals, the sum of —— ——is hereby appropriated for said purposes; and the further sum of ——dollars is hereby appropriated to pay the said Commissioner of Immigration, the salary of his clerk, if one is employed, the actual expenses of the said Commissioner in going to, remaining in and returning from Europe, and the contingent expenses of his office.

Sec. 4. Be it further enacted, That all money appropriated by this act, and for the purposes contemplated by it shall be drawn from the Treasury by the Commissioner of Immigration according to the laws, rules and regulations governing the Treasury Office, and that before entering upon the duties of said office or receiving any money appropriated by this act, he shall give good and sufficient security to the State of Georgia in the sum of —— dollars to secure the faithful execution of the trusts imposed by this act.

THURSDAY NOON NEWS.

MEXICO.

A VARIETY OF NEWS.

HAVANA, January 15.—Congress will adjourn its session to-day. A strong opposition to President Seardo de Tejado is forming. Some of the journals which first changed their political complexion to opposition were formerly government organs. A majority in Congress of five are in favor of the Vera Cruse Railroad. The proposition is considered certain. The Mexican Company, who have received the concession of construction of international railroads, are unable to begin work for the want of funds and credit at home and abroad.

Leon Guzeman has resigned the Attorney Generalship because of alleged ill health. He condemns President Lerdas' policy because the latter disapproved Guzeman's action while in Washington.

The serious disturbances in the city of Mexico has ceased.

Congress approved of a continuation of the subvention to the Alexander Steamship Line.

President Lerdas has summoned all State governments to the National Capitol to discuss the affairs of State.

MEXICAN WAR VETERANS—ALL SECTIONS OF THE COUNTRY REPRESENTED.

COLONEL FROBEL BEFORE THE NATIONAL CHEAP TRANSPORTATION COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, January 15.—The delegates to the National Convention of the Mexican War Veterans, represents all sections of the country. They, at noon, marched from their headquarters to Willard's Hall, with banners and a band of music, under escort of the President's mounted guard, a local organization.

The Convention was called to order by General J. W. Denver, who said its objects were the presentation of a memorial to Congress, asking pensions for all survivors of the Mexican war in the passage of a law similar to that of 1871, giving pensions to the survivors of the war of 1812. Also, to adopt measures for the organization of a National Brotherhood of Mexican veterans; and for a representation at the Centennial exposition at Philadelphia in 1876. The Convention, however, need not be confined to these objects alone. Those who formed the call were animated by a desire to meet comrades from all sections of the country, and thereby renew old associations. There were some who behaved well, but were now indigent and unable to take care of themselves. Therefore one of the objects of the convention should be to prevail upon Congress to pass a law to admit them to the Soldiers' Home, located near Washington, which was purchased and established with money obtained from Mexico by the valor of our arms, the institution now being open only to soldiers of the regular army. In speaking of the Mexican campaign Gen Denver said: "Our troops attacked the Mexicans in their own country and captured their strongholds. Opposing to them not more than one-half or one-quarter as many Americans as there were Mexicans in the field, that war continued two years without a single reverse to our army, and hence it was right the surviving veterans should meet and remind the people of the country that victories were secured not for one section of our country more than for another, but what they did was for our common advantage and renown.

General Denver was frequently interrupted by applause.

A temporary organization was effected by the selection of General Denver as chairman, and A. M. Kennedy as secretary, and committees were appointed on credentials and permanent organization.

The National Cheap Transportation Convention at their meeting this morning were addressed by Colonel Frobel, of Georgia, as the representative of Governor Smith of that State, who had been invited by the Convention to speak on the subject of cheap transportation, but whose official duties detained him at home. Colonel Frobel showed the necessity of more cheap transportation than at present exists for the heavy products of the country and that water afforded the best means for the accomplishment of this desired end. He advocated a national system, the benefits of which should reach all sections and all interests, and considered as folly the cry that the country could not afford such works, comparing this cry to the folly of the farmer who would suffer thousands of bushels of grain to rot in his field because he could not afford to pay fifty dollars to buy a wagon to haul it to a profitable market. The small politicians had opposed a general system of water improvements on the ground that they would cost a hundred millions, and had uttered this cry from one end of the land to the other; and this answered the wail of need; this drowned the voice of the people; this hushed the complaint of decaying interests, and from behind this pretence of a virtuous economy they tolled the death-knell of prosperity in this cry of a hundred millions.

Colonel Frobel spoke at length as to the necessity of building up our manufactures and home trade between the States, and reviewed the present condition of cotton interests, showing it was rapidly decaying, and in conclusion reviewed the present financial condition of the country and its causes. The Colonel was frequently applauded during his remarks.

The report of the Committee on Canals was made and its consideration deferred as the special order for to-morrow.

The Convention adjourned until 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Texas journals estimate that 15,000 Democrats failed to vote in the recent election in that State. They were "disgusted at Radical outrages, and thought their votes would do no good." It is fortunate for them that so many other thousands had the good sense to go and vote. Disgust is a poor weapon in a political campaign, and there has never been a time when an honest and intelligent man's vote was not of importance.

The Russian troops employed in the Khivan expedition were fed chiefly on biscuits composed of one-third of flour of rye, one-third of beef reduced to powder. and one-third of sauer kraut also reduced to powder. The soldiers are stated to have had a great relish for this food, and their good health during the expedition is attributed in great part to the use of it.

Of the fifteen million inhabitants of Spain, twelve million can neither read nor write There are four thousand villages, towns and cities presided over by mayors, two thousand of whom are unable to sign their names to any public document. That country is sadly in need of a government which shall place a higher estimate upon the importance of educating the people.

There are a thousand gentle ways which every person may put on without running the risk of being deemed either affected or foppish. The pleasant smile, the quiet, cordial bow, the earnest movement in addressing a friend, the inquiring glance, the graceful attention, will insure the regards of even a churl Above all there is a certain softness of manner which should be cultivated, and which adds a charm that almost entirely compensates for lack of beauty, and inestimably enhances the latter, if it does exist.

The presence in New York city of Colonel Elias C. Boudinot, a prominent, influential and well educated chief of the Cherokee Nation, excites much interest in the metropolis. During the war he was the delegate of the Nation in the Confederate Congress. His father was the great chief who was assassinated in 1837 for his strenuous opposition to the removal of the Cherokees from Georgia. Colonel Boudinot is an elegant speaker, a master of the English language, and is thoroughly conversant with the needs of his people and the Government policy toward them.

The Amazon transcends in length, breadth, and magnificence the Mississippi, the Nile, and Yangste. It abounds in caoutchouc, cocoa, Brazil nuts, hides, sarsaparilla, and other medical drugs and roots, which can be utilized to supply the world. Cotton is indigenous to the soil and climate, and can supply an unlimited quantity.

Governor Safford, of Arizona, plainly describes the class of people that don't get along in the West. He says that "gentlemanly farmers, who commence without means and have hired all their work done. will undoubtedly be obliged to quit the business—and those who have invested the largest portion of their crops in poor whisky at twenty-five cents per glass, will hardly be able to meet their obligations and inspire sufficient confidence to obtain credit in the future." That style of doing business is equally unsuccessful in the South.

One of the most melancholy sights in Washington is the ex-Congressman, who persistently arrives at the commencement of each session, and endeavors by lobbying to defray his expenses until the final adjournment. Apparently entranced by Washington life, as Rinaldo when spell-bound by Armida, or Ulysses subdued by the cup of Circe, he haunts the vestibules of the hotels and the lobbies of the capitol, ready to sell his "influence" in support of any bill for a small retainer or a large contingent. And if he can sit by a Senator or Representative at meals, or walk in the streets with them, he mysteriously hints that the vote of his honorable friend is "all right." To most Senators and Representatives, these former associates are nuisances when they return, leech-like, to fatten on old acquaintances.

The cost of educating a cadet at West Point is just eight thousand dollars. or two thousand dollars for each of the four years of the course. The items are as follows: Pay of twenty-six professors and other instructors in the Military Academy, $45,700 ; pay of cadets, at $500 per annum each and one ration, $206,620 50; current and ordinary expenses, $64 755 ; miscellaneous and incidental expenses, $21 676 ; buildings and grounds, $43 500 ; total, $381,851 50 To these must be added, as suggested in the report of the Board of Visitors, the pay of the Professors as Colonels, Captains, and lieutenants in the regular army, which is in addition to their salaries as professors at West Point. This, with the ordnance stores consumed, will more than make up the annual expenditure of the Military Academy to $400,000. The average number of cadets graduated at West Point for several years past has been fifty per annum. Divide $400,000 by fifty and we have $8,000 as the average cost of the education of each cadet. The Academy course of instruction embraces four years, and the two hundred students graduated in that time cost the nation $1,600,000, or at the rate of $8,000 apiece.

The Confederate Archives.

The sad experience of Caleb Cushing will bring into tragic prominence the Confederate archives now in the possession of the United States Government. Henceforth this body of obsolete documents will have a new interest as a trap for office aspirants.

What infinite damage may lurk in the hidden secrets of these pestiferous scrips of rebellion.

Ye saints of discord and detriment! What loyalist is safe? What treasonable missive may not be saving to thwart ambition and damage loyalty?

Our Confederate archives have risen to the dignity of a new use. Their resuscitated corpses may galvanize into sad vitality to squelch some aspiring demagogue, or nip in the bud venerable ambition.

How many more, like the unfortunate Cushing, may find their quietus in some untimely but obstinate epistle of that Confederate collection. The thought raises an apprehension for the fate of these dangerous archives. They may yet be sacrificed to the ambition of some disloyal scrub like poor old Caleb.

The New Virginia Senator.

Col. Robert E. Withers, of Lynchburg, was born, reared and educated in Virginia. He has fought for the old State, on the tented field and in civil station, all his life long. Born in Campbell county in 1821, graduated at the University of Virginia, and practicing medicine for the following nineteen years in Lynchburg, he was not an active participant in political affairs until the outbreak of the war. He entered the service at the head of the Eighteenth Virginia Regiment; and at Gaines' Mill was so terribly wounded that he could not afterwards actively serve. In that battle he received a lameness that he will carry to the grave. After the surrender at Appomatox he edited the Lynchburg News, and afterwards the Richmond Enquirer, acquiring in his new profession a wide reputation for ability. From this time he became a political leader. In 1868, as a nominee for Governor, he canvassed the State with such power that General Canby postponed the election. He was unanimously nominated for Lieutenant Governor last fall, and now, after a keen contest, has carried off the Senatorial prize. His competitors were all able and true men, and the result is a splendid test of his popularity and strength. All accounts represent him as a fitting representative of the old Commonwealth in the national councils. He is gifted with a rare eloquence, learned, and a man of undoubted brain power. He has been tested under a variety of circumstances during an active career, and in no place has he been found wanting. Upon his shoulders falls the mantle of illustrious law-makers, and the people of Virginia, who know him best, believe him competent to revive and sustain the reputation of their State as the mother of statesmen.

The New York Labor Demonstration.

Either the extent of the renewal of business has been exaggerated, or else some peculiar trouble exists in the city of New York. For several days large and partially organized bodies of unemployed working men have kept the city uneasy with their demonstrations, and demands for work from the city authorities. None of them, however, assumed dangerous proportions until their leaders arranged a meeting on Tuesday of this week in Tompkins Square. Although the Park Commissioners withdrew their permit for a meeting on the square, still at ten o'clock of that morning, it was densely packed with not less than 8,000 men, many of whom carried clubs and heavy sticks which they flourished fiercely. Scarcely a block away could be seen the red flag of the Commune pendant from the windows of several houses; and a body of men numbering about 250 marched to the square led by a noted Communist, who carried an immense red flag that he triumphantly waved over his head.

At eleven o'clock a strong and successful effort was made by heavy bodies of the police force to club the angry crowds out of the square. As the policemen marched through the gates in compact columns with drawn batons, yells and hisses filled their ears, and an occasional missile fell in their midst. The crowd surrounded them on every side. They halted in the center of the square, and a moment of deep excitement followed. The order to charge was not given until some daring ruffians sprang into a passing street car and attempted to rob its inmates before their very eyes. The mob was at length driven down the cross streets, after a hard fight, some bloodshed, and a vast deal of alarm on the part of the neighboring shop-keepers, who hastily put up their shutters and closed their doors.

Portions of the city remained in a condition of excitement during the remainder of the day. The latest accounts indicate that all is quiet again on the Hudson, but there is no telling what troubles the long winter has in store for the misgoverned city which presents the extremes of luxurious wealth and horrible poverty on such a gigantic scale. The cry for "bread" that came from the hoarse throats of hungry, desperate men on Tuesday, may be but the prelude of scenes as terrible and bloody as Paris ever witnessed. And is it not a little queer that hungry men go about the streets of our great cities demanding employment during the administration of one who is popularly supposed to be the embodiment of Prosperity?

The Usury Law.

We profoundly regret that a bill has been introduced in the Georgia Legislature to restore that ordinance of an absolete uncivilization, that tyrannous relic of a rejected code of jurisprudence—the properly abolished usury law.

Surely, this sort of thing is legislative child's play. It was but a year ago that, after a long contest, the usury law was blotted from Georgia's statue book. Hardly has the change been even known, much less thoroughly tested, before the caprice of restoring the old defunct statute is attempted. We have not yet recovered from a great financial panic in which the freedom of the State to the uninterrupted influx of money relieved some of the burdens of the crisis, ere our unwise legislators are seeking to embarrass us still more by hampering the currency that alone can give us full relief.

And now when we may begin to hope for easier money times, the power of the law is to be attempted to be invoked to drive money from our midst which may be seduced thither by our liberal policy. The very agitation of the restoration of the usury law is a deadly injury to the country. Its effect is to drive men who are loaning money on fair terms for the times, to press their debtors to the wall to get their money back before usury shall be restored to despotic life. Its effect is to immediately raise the interest on money to higher rates, to compensate for the risk of usury. Its effect is to notify all capitalists out of our own borders that they need not bring their money to Georgia to lend, as Georgia, though needing money, is going to perpetrate the mad folly of absolutely debarring money from coming to our relief.

The men who are going to suffer most are the farmers and laboring men, the consumers, who at last have to foot all the exactions. At the State Convention of the Georgia Grangers, held here recently, an attempt was made to commit the Grangers to the restoration of the usury law. But that sensible body, with a sharp eye to its own interests, refused to commit any such folly The Grangers did no wiser thing than thus refusing to ask the Legislature to restore the barbarous and un-Democratic usury nuisance.

Let our legislators take a lesson from the grangers in this matter. Let them leave money as it now is, free as air to come to us and aid our regeneration. Let the damaging agitation of this unfortunate, unneeded restoration of a damaging law cease. And let us at least stop that sort of child's sporting that does and undoes grave legislation in the same breath, and lacks the good sense and patience to test great reforms properly before rejecting them.

It is a tyrannous exercise of power for the State to hamper its citizens in the use of their money. This is the simple philosophy of usury.

A Big Fight Commenced.

Yesterday morning Hon. Robert Toombs, as counsel for the complainants, filed in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of this county a bill in equity against the Western and Atlantic Railroad Company and Foster Blodgett. The complainants in the bill are, A. K. Seago, A. C. & B. F. Wylie, J. R. Wallace, T. J. Hightower, John M. Harwell et al.

Our readers will see that it is a fight inaugurated by the Seago combination against the lessees of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, and promises to be one of the largest, as well as most interesting to the public ever started in this country. The objects sought to be accomplished by the bill will fully appear by reference to its salient points, which are briefly as follows:

The bill charges that on the 26th day of October, 1870, Rufus B. Bullock, Governor of Georgia, for the purpose of carrying out an act of the Legislature, approved the 24th day of October, 1870, issued a public notice "for proposals for the lease of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, with all of its appurtenances, for the term of twenty years," upon conditions therein named; that said notice required bidders to state fully their names, residences, value of their property, and character of security they could offer, which proposals were receivable until the 25th day of December next following; that complainants, on the 24th day of December, 1870, made out a proposal for the lease of said road, in strict compliance with the terms of said notice, by which proposals complainants bound themselves to pay the State of Georgia a monthly rental of $34,500; that said proposal conformed entirely with the law authorizing said lease, and that complainants are now ready to carry out their contract; that complainants were the highest bidders for said lease, and that they demanded the same.

The bill further charges that on said 24th day of December, 1870, proposals for said lease were also made and presented by Simon Cameron, et al. (here follows the names of the present lessees); that said bid was but for $25,000 per month, being more than $10,000 per month less than the bid of complainants, and that their security was better by above four million of dollars; that on the 26th day of December, 1870, one William B Johnson, a Director of the Central Railroad and Banking Company, fraudulently acting as its agent, and falsely pretending that he was informed by rumor that some unknown persons had tendered said road as security on a bond, informed Governor Bullock that the tender of complainants was unauthorized, and tendered said corporation, as security on the land offered by defendant's Company, of which said Johnson was a member; that on the same day William S. Holt, President of the Southwestern Railroad Company, and A. J. White, President of the Macon and Western Railroad Company, without authority made the same representations and tenders of their companies; that complainants had abundant reason to believe that they were fully authorized to tender said companies as security, and still believe it; that complainants were prepared to offer other roads as security if such should be required; that said Johnson, Holt and White were at the time members of a company organized to bid for said lease, and known as the Macon Company; that said Macon and defendant's companies combined to defraud complainants, and formed a new company, and made their bid of twenty-five thousand dollars. That Governor Bullock, with full knowledge of these fraudulent practices, refused to entertain complainants bid, unless other security was offered at once; that complainants, although they knew the demand was illegal, at once renewed their assurance of their ability to give the security offered, and offered, in case of failure, personal security worth $8,000,000; that on the 28th day of December, 1870, well knowing complainants ability to give said security, fraudulently awarded said lease to said Kimball, Cameron, Brown and others, for the sum of $25,000, and accepted a fraudulent bond. The bill further alleges that the execution of the bond by Joseph E. Brown, as President of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, was without authority of law; that the defendants realize annually the sum of $500,000 from the lease. The bill concludes with a prayer that the lease may be declared fraudulent, and awarded to complainants, and is signed by Robert Toombs. There are a number of exhibits annexed, including the public advertisement of the lease and the correspondence of the Governor with the several parties. The fight will be a big one We will give defendants answer as soon as it can be had.

THE SOUTHERN HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Address to the People of Georgia by the State Agent of the Society.

For The Constitution.

In fulfillment of the duties imposed upon me as general agent for the State of Georgia for the Southern Historical Society, I propose very shortly to visit Atlanta. It will greatly promote the patriotic interests I have undertaken to advocate, to find, as I proceed from point to point, a generally prevailing knowledge of the objects and scope of this Society, and a warm interest aroused in its welfare.

In an address delivered before the Society, 29th October, 1873, by General Wade Hampton, I find the following words:

"This Society proposes to publish regularly and systematically all contributions which elucidate the truth, reflect the glory, and maintain the principles involved in the late war, and it calls upon all who are not lost to honor to aid in this laudable undertaking. It wishes to enroll not only every true man, but every true woman, in its ranks, for its distinguished President whose well known gallantry on the field is equalled only by his gallantry to the fair sex, has opened wide its doors to the noble women of the South."

The failure of the South to maintain by force of arms those eternal principles for which she fought, has been pronounced evidence incontrovertible that her righteous cause was foul rebellion and all supporters of that cause traitors and rebels.

This condemnatory record we must submit to see crystalized into history, if that history be written from that stand-point from which all logic is excluded but that popular logic which deduces from the fact of Southern defeat proof incontestable of Southern criminality.

Are we willing that the Southern men and Southern women of the future—our children and our grand-children—shall gloomily ponder over the pages of that history, finding in them nothing of that honor and sublime courage which we now dare challenge the civilized world to deny; but in place of that true record, a faintly apologetic or sweepingly condemnatory relation of garbled facts—in a word, a text book for our schools and colleges from which will be learned how the fearful consequences of Southern criminality were averted by the happily victorious power of Northern battalions?

But it is not only for the securing, before it is too late, the materials for a true history of the war that the Southern Historical Society will, in its legitimate operation, become an instrumentality of incalculable benefit to the South. Having enrolled among its members the true exponents of Southern honor and intelligence, it will necessarily possess a vitality and exert a moral influence through the whole South, which will steadily and irresistibly expand into an antagonism powerful to repel the insidious advances of those vicious principles which are now so fearfully undermining the civilization of the North.

Through the intelligent and active agency of this Society all matter bearing upon Southern interests, of agriculture, manufactures, commerce, science, art, will be ably and comprehensively discussed. No longer will the South, as hitherto, be represented, as what it is not, by Northern publicists and pamphleteers, but as what it is, physically and morally, by those who alone possess the power and will assert the right to delineate Southern life and Southern manners—the South as Southern intelligence alone can depict it.

It is for the building up upon a solid and lasting basis this "society of the South" that I respectfully and earnestly ask the aid and co-operation of the true men and true women of Georgia.

In view of the vital issues involved and of the noble result attainable through the effective operation of this society, I dare not doubt the success of my efforts in Georgia in its behalf.

HENRY EUBANK,
General Agent Southern Historical Society.

Summary of State News.

THOMSON.

The recent municipal election held in Thompson resulted as follows: Mayor, J. H. Casey; Recorder, Dr. E. S. Harrison; Councilmen, H. W. Gerald, John M. Curtis, and H. C. Roney. On last Tuesday evening the new Board was installed. — Three fiddles and a harp, assisted by a man and his wife, a small boy, and a girl of tender years, are at present fascinating Thompson with a scanty selection of the most dismal music. The attachment of the Thompsonians for their nickels is so great that the musicians are scarcely realizing a fortune.——The public buildings for McDuffie county are completed. The jail was finished several months ago, and has been in pretty constant use ever since, but the Court House was not delivered to the Commissioners until last week. The buildings are handsome and reflect credit upon the county.——Thomson has received and shipped so far this season 6,550 bales of cotton.—Journal.

AUGUSTA.

It has been discovered that the young man, the subject of the recent mysterious disappearance in Augusta bought a trunk last Saturday, and remarked that he was going North. It has not yet been discovered what motive induced his sudden departure ——The following gentlemen were Tuesday elected Directors of the National Bank of Augusta: Messrs. W. E Jackson, W. B. Dinsmore, H. B Plant, John P King, James T. Gardiner, J. M Burdell and W. C Sibley. At a subsequent meeting of the board, W. E Jackson, Esq., was unanimously re-elected President.——The Augusta people are becoming so afraid of being buried alive, which sometimes happens to persons who are hard to die, that they are petitioning the Council to build a city vault in the cemetery. The idea is to remove to this vault all persons whom the doctors have given up, and keep them there until satisfactory evidence is furnished that they are really dead, and not trying to get up a little private sensation. — On Monday night while several of the preachers of the North Georgia Conference were sleeping quietly and comfortably as only the just sleep at the parsonage of the Protestant Church, in Dublin, in which Rev. Henry Strickland, the pastor of that church, resides, the robbers crept in upon the unsuspecting divines. They stole a gold magic case watch, with a diamond in the stem, the property of Bishop T. M. D. Ward, colored, also a plated chain attached thereto. From John H. W. Burly, the Financial Secretary of the Conference, they got a pocket book containing one ten dollar bill and three one dollar gold bearing bills on some bank in California, fifty dollars rolled up in a piece of paper and fifty dollars in small currency, the collections made in Conference on that day. Nothing was known of the theft until yesterday morning when the preachers awoke.—Constitutionalist.

HAMILTON.

Mr. M. C. Levy, the runaway jeweler of Hamilton, has returned. He says that it was whisky which induced him to run off and carry with him the watches of sundry confiding Hamiltonians, but that he intends to redeem himself in the future ——The postmaster of Hamilton in making his returns the other day, had to advance over $50 out of his own pocket on postage which had not been paid him. This comes of abolishing the franking privilege.——The whisky sold in Hamilton is said to be so mean that it will make a man steal in a week, and kill him in a year unless his stomach is made of brass.—Visitor.

COLUMBUS.

The Western Railroad of Alabama has brought to Columbus, en route to Savannah and New York, from August 31, 1873, to last Saturday, the 10th, 178 bales of cotton.——A little nephew of W. O. Mason, of Browneville, aged 12 or 14 years, had a leg broken Wednesday by the accidental falling of a pile of lumber on it, while he was at work. Dr. Ward, of Columbus, was called in, who set the limb and left the boy in a comfortable condition.——The celebrated case involving the Owen Thomas estate, which has been in litigation at Columbus for the past six years, has been settled The heirs at law, who are negroes, will get some $30,000 to divide among them.—Enquirer.

SAVANNAH.

One of the nation's pets got into trouble at Lawrenceville the other day, by trying to buy a package of prize candy and pocket some bottles of pickles at the same time. The explanation which he had with the merchant was so vigorous, that he was carried out on a shutter.——A colored gemman of this town has gotten himself into trouble by trying to prevent his wife from going visiting Saturday night. She was determined to go and he was resolved that she should not, and caught hold of her dress to carry out his resolution. She was a little unruly and left her dress and attachments behind while she paid the visit attired in a chignon and a pair of very dilapidated slippers. The husband has since been bound over to keep the peace.——There was considerable excitement around Lawrenceville on Tuesday. A negro charged with having committed rape upon a white woman in Forsyth county, and who had escaped from jail at Cumming was found near town and a number of parties started after him. They got in sight of him once or twice and shot at him, but he succeeded by hard running in getting away. It is reported that there is a reward of fifty dollars for his apprehension.—Herald.

EATONTON.

An Eatonton man got round to the wrong end of an empty pistol. last week, and has been persuaded to dispense with the use of his right arm for the balance of the winter.—Messenger.

Mr. W. B. Farley died at his residence in this county on Saturday night last, after an illness of a few days.

Mr. Alexander Stephens, a worthy citizen of Upson county, died a few days ago He was extensively known, and universally respected.

Mr Henry McAvitt died at his residence in Eatonton on the 8th instant of pneumonia. He was an old citizen, having resided in the town almost constantly since 1833.

☞ It is very interesting now and then to notice the struggles of our neighbors at Knoxville. Despairing of ever again openly contending with Chattanooga as a rival, they are now making, as we are reliably informed, a secret effort for the removal of the Methodist Episcopal Book Concern and the Methodist Advocate from Atlanta to Knoxville. Chattanooga Commercial.

The first shad in the Newbern market this season, were sold last week.

The News says violets and daisies are in full bloom in Capitol Square in open air, and strawberries are ripe on the vines in the truck garden of Mr. Theophilus Snow, near Raleigh.

Charge of Judge Watts during a trial at Wake Court last week. Certain parties were disturbing the court by eating peanuts. Said his Honor to them, "Don't crack goober-peas in this court room—go to the Capitol."

Rev. Edward J. Rich has been chosen as rector by the new Episcopal congregation in Raleigh. Mr. Rich was with the Wilson parish several months, says the News. Tucker Hall will be used by the new church this year.

The Raleigh Sentinel says: The venerable A. J. Lawence, whose death was announced yesterday in the Sentinel, was a Captain in the war of 1812, and is the last of the heroes of that time who went from our midst. He was an excellent citizen.

Lincoln Progress: Mr. Henderson Howard, of Lincoln county, is now seventy-two years old, has about one hundred grandchildren and fourteen great grand children. He has been married fifty years and lived on a farm, and has never had to buy a bushel of corn or a pound of bacon since he went to housekeeping. This year with a little help he has a full corn crib and smoke house and five bales of cotton, besides that he is able to hold until the panic is over. He is an old-fashioned Democrat, and owes no debts. He ought to be elected Master of the Granges.

South Carolina.

Chester is receiving immigrants rapidly.

The Governor has pardoned Jas. Loring. sentenced to ten years' imprisonment for murder; John Brown, sentenced to two years imprisonment for murder; Wm. Allen, sentenced for two years' imprisonment for grand larceny.

Charleston (S. C.) News: "There is a man living in Greenville who has in his possession a receipt for the taxes on a tract of 175 acres of land paid in 1868. The amount of taxes paid at that date was fifteen cents. Last year he paid twenty-four dollars and seventy-five cents taxes on the same land."

A mass meeting was held in the Town Hall, for the purpose of introducing immigration to the county of Fairfield.——The first instalment of immigrants, four in number, arrived in Winnsboro last week from Ireland: others are expected to follow. Winnsboro News.

A correspondent of the Augusta Constitutionalist, writing from Columbia, gives the following news concerning the political prospect before the people of South Carolina: General McGowan is spoken of as the Conservative candidate for Governor next yearr It is said that Elliott and other leading politicians will support him as against Moses. Moses is losing ground daily, and even rampant Radicals are casting about for his successor. The Legislature has refused to vote Moses a contingent, and no more money is to be voted for the notorious armed force. Ex-Governor Scott is a potential Radical candidate, and has many followers, but not enough to win, so knowing ones declare.

The State Road

An Atlanta correspondent writes: From an unquestionable source we learn that the past year gave a doleful balance sheet to the lessees, who were once thought to be such fortunate men. In the summer months they went squarely behind hand over seventy thousand dollars, and to day, so far from ever having realized one cent of dividends, are in debt for repairs, etc., full $250,000.

The road, however, is in better order than for ten years, and it is announced that Governor Brown says they will continue operations until personal bankruptcy stares them in the face. Other new lines have tapped their business, and the great trouble is that the cars go North empty, and one fare, even if all are well laden, does not much more than pay expenses. At present, however, matters look more favorable, but candor compels us to say that the eventual surrender of the lease is daily becoming more probable. How a contract can be binding on one party and not on the other, is for the lawyers and quid nuncs to say. But it is understood that the act itself lets out the lessees.—Savannah Advertiser.

WASHINGTON.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT IN CONGRESS—GOSSIP ABOUT THE CHIEF JUSTICESHIP.

WASHINGTON, January 15.—The Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives will grant a hearing to-morrow at 10 o'clock to Hon Wm. E. Dodge, Hon. Felix R. Brunol, J. N. Stearns, and A. M. Howell, of the National Temperance Advocate, in behalf of a bill introduced by Hon. Wm. Frye, of Maine, providing for a commission of inquiry in the liquor traffic.

Senator Buckingham presided at an important conference of the Friends of Temperance, held this evening in the lecture room of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Addresses were delivered by Hon. W. M. E. Dodge, Hon. Wm. H. Lanefort, of the House, A. M. Powell, J. N. Stearns, Messrs. Bradley, Armstrong and others.

Resolutions were adopted asking Congress to appoint a commission to investigate the liquor traffic.

Among the unauthorized and untruthful reports to-day was that Judge Curtis, of Massachusetts, had been selected by the President for the Chief Justiceship. The excitement the report caused at the capitol was of short duration. Various names continue to be mentioned in that connection. From certain indications the nomination may come from New York, in the person of Judge Woodruff. At least, intimations to this effect have been made in Congressional quarters. Several days may elapse before a nomination shall be sent to the Senate.

STRIKE IN PENNSYLVANIA.

PHILADELPHIA, January 15.—The carpet weavers' strike in Kensington continues, with but little or no prospect of an early settlement of existing difficulties. Among the strikers, numbers of cases of distress are reported. Several cases of interference with workmen employed at reduced rates have taken place, and to avoid any more such troubles, the Carpet Manufacturing Association has issued a number of rewards for the arrest of all strikers found tampering with or intimidating any of the employees employed at reduced prices.

It is reported here that the Government is to assume control of the New Jersey Southern Railroad in order that the mails be promptly delivered. The freight delayed by the suspension of travel in consequence of the strike and tearing up of the rails, is being carried to Amboy and dispatched via Camden and Amboy.

COLD WEATHER.—Yesterday and last night was intensely cold. The audience at DeGive's suffered a great deal from the cold. Why is not the Opera House heated?

ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK.—The report of the condition of the Atlanta National Bank exhibits strength, security and success in that sterling institution. The showing is eminently a fine one.

LAW CARD.—We invite attention to the law card of W. W. Montgomery, of Savannah. Mr. Montgomery was at one time Judge of the Supreme Court. He is a gentleman of culture, experience and polish, and a close student.

JACKSON'S MAGIC BALSAM.—Jackson's Magic Balsam is obtaining a wide extended popularity from its wonderful cures. It acts like magic in curing croup, rheumatism, neuralgia, scrofula and all the rest. It is worthy of the enlarged success it has so speedily attained.

THE BURNS CELEBRATION.—As the anniversary, the 25th, occurs on Sunday, the celebration will come off on Monday (26th). The committee appointed to take the matter in hand, we are informed, have gone to work, and doubtless the affair will be a very entertaining and enjoyable one.

THE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate yesterday, Senator Mathews, from the ... introduced an important measure. He introduced a bill to repeal all laws granting State aid to railroads where vested rights have not accrued.

Senator Simmons introduced a bill to provide for the registration of marriages, births and deaths, a measure of practical importance.

Senator Winn introduced a resolution to abolish the present homestead law and re-enact the old law, with the addition of $200 in furniture and two houses.

Senator Wofford graced the chamber with his benign countenance.

Senator Harris is incubating a bill for the protection of the gopher.

Senator Erwin has arrived in good health and spirits.

The election for Secretary is expected to come off to-day. Scores of patriots are ready to sacrifice their interests by serving the State in this capacity, and will take "sugar in theirn." Among the candidates we hear of C. J. Wellborn, E. Pillscoddy Howell, M. A. Hardin, C. T. Campbell and Mr. Hudson.

In the House the members from the new counties were officially allowed de-bate.

Several important bills were introduced.

Mr. Williamson wants a convention called to meet here in May, with eight delegates from each Congressional District.

Mr. Turnbull wants the act repealing the usury laws repealed.

Mr. Tumlin, who, with Anderson, of Cobb, rank among the handsome men of the House, wants the homestead reduced to $500 in specie, and the personalty reduced to $300 in specie.

Mr. Baker wants all railroads prohibited from charging more on local freights than on through freights, and the present system on the Georgia Railroad the universal rule. He wants a board of transportation to look after the whole matter.

The "mills of the Gods grind slowly," but the blonde Representative from Chatham is as active as ever. He seeks now to throw the protecting aegis of the law around the wild ducks and mocking birds of Chatham and Bryan. Of course he will go for Senator Harris' gopher bill.

Mr. Lyon proposes to make the 26th of April a public holiday.

Mr. Towers wants the Mayor of Rome to have the veto power and the Council the right to put the liquor license tax at $1,000.

Mr. Yow proposes to construct a railroad from Gainesville to Anderson Court House, S. C.

Mr. Calhoun wishes to establish the Atlanta Fire Insurance Company.

Mr. Hoge wants an additional Judge for the Atlanta Circuit, and the jury lessened by exempting the Cadets, Zouaves and Guards.

Mr. Candler wants the students of colleges and high schools exempt from road duty.

Mr. Peabody wants county and municipal corporations restrained in the issuing of bonds. Before they can be legally issued a majority of the property owners must give their assent at the polls.

Mr. Willingham proposes to repeal at once all liens to dealers in fertilizers, and all other liens next January.

On 'Change.

There was a very slim attendance of merchants at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday morning, although it was desired that a much larger number would be present. Mr. Hass, from the Finance Committee of the Council, visited the Chamber to take part in the contemplated discussion upon the city scrip, but seeing that there was no probability of getting anything like a full attendance of the merchants, that gentleman soon departed.

At half-past ten o'clock Vice President John Stephens took the chair. Mr Dunn moved the appointment of a committee of two from the Chamber, to wait upon the chairman of the Finance Committee, and consult with him upon the subject of the city money. Mr. Stewart thought that a committee of one, with Mr Dunn on it, would be sufficient. After some discussion Mr Dunn's motion prevailed, and the chair appointed on this committee J. N. Dunn and Mr. Ansley, requesting these gentlemen to be prepared to report to-day. The position of the merchants whom we have heard discuss this matter is that if the banks can be induced to receive this city money, they are willing to accept it also; but if the banks determine not to receive it, then they want to have nothing to do with it. The committee, consisting of Messrs. Dunn and Inman, appointed to confer with the management of the city papers relative to the discrepancy in their cotton receipts, reported that they had done so, and had found that both papers exercised due diligence in getting at the proper receipts. The discrepancy was about four or five hundred bales, and probably arose from the fact that the representatives of the papers called at the warehouses at different hours to obtain the receipts. Mr. Inman thinks that not less than 6,000 bales have been bought and paid for by Atlanta buyers this season which have never reached this place, and this, too, in addition to what has been delivered.

Mr. Stewart, from the committee on the present financial troubles and their remedies, stated that his committee wished the merchants to distinctly understand that his committee did not favor having any black list. Their plan was simply to have the business standing of each merchant entered in a book kept for that purpose. This will benefit the merchant whose credit is good by extending it, and will do injustice to none.

Upon motion, all action with reference to this report was deferred to the meeting to-day, which meeting it is requested that all merchants who can possibly do so will attend.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE SWISS BELL RINGERS.—DeGive's was filled last night with a large and appreciative audience. The Berger family are favorites with the Atlanta public. The Bergers play on every known musical instrument with remarkable ease and skill. The Silver Cornet Band, composed of young ladies, is an attractive feature. The Swiss bells and silver staff bells always bring down the house. The crystal chimes is a perfect gem.

Mr. Ernest Thelle is a splendid performer on the flute and violin. But the lion of the evening was the veritable, unsurpassable humorist, Sol Smith Russell. In his character songs and character impersonations he is inimitable. As "Dorcas Pennyroyal," the old maid, he kept the house convulsed with laughter, while in the "henpecked husband" he was equally at home.

His imitation of the style and power of John B. Gough was superb. The audience notwithstanding the coldness of the house kept warm by continued laughter. They could not repress it. The performances are of the highest order, and we bespeak for them a full house to-night.

THE editor of a Huffville paper thinks the following "rough on Kimballville":

"A little Milledgeville hero of four years and "red top boots" was asked a few days since, who made his baby brother? He replied that they "bought him in Atlanta." His little questioner, boasting a few more years, and some catechism knowledge, asked in surprise, 'why! did not God make him?' She was answered, 'no, he did not, for we buyd him in Atlanta, and Dod don't live there.'"

If the little four year old will come up here he will find thirty-seven temples devoted to the service of God. Taking the statement of the little one literally we can safely assure him that "Dod" does live here.

DIED, at his father's residence, in this place on yesterday morning, Oscar, second son of D. W. K. Peacock, about eighteen years of age. He was at church on Sunday night, but on returning home was taken very ill with meningitis. The fell disease baffled all the efforts of his physician and the father and mother are now left with broken hearts to mourn the loss of a son, just developing into a vigorous and promising man-hood. "So fades a summer cloud away." We deeply sympathize with the sorrowing family, and commend them to Him who is too wise to err, and too good to be unkind. Cartersville Standard and Express.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU.—Progress generally has many impediments. Motion nearly always meets with resistance. Frequently there is no advance without friction and hinderance. The puzzled and self-complacent ever regard with aversion and distrust the living and aggressive. These are general truths, yet it is gratifying after conversing with a number of the members of the General Assembly to discover that they approve of the recommendation of the Governor of the establishment of an Agricultural Bureau in Georgia, as ably discussed in his message. A message by the way, which proves he is an acute observer of men and things, which gives him a high order of good sense and practical judgment.

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT.—The weather was so very cold yesterday that the contractor was forced to suspend his work for the day.

By the way the cemetery looked very pretty, although it is the dead of winter. The dreary loneliness of the grave is vanished from the grounds, for the living never cease their loving vigils, and the flowers of remembrance are bedewed and renewed from day to day. John Connolly, the worthy Sexton is ever at his post.

... AND ITS EFFECTS.

Address Delivered Before Cherokee Corner Grange, December 13th, 1873.

BY DR. T. D. HUTCHINSON.

Though unsuited to its performance by taste, habits and inclination, the task assigned me is one from which I have not thought the ... of ... order would permit me to shrink. ... life, avoided, as much as possible ... complications and entanglements, I ... of the forms of law or its administration ... of my years. In what may be said, therefore, upon this subject before us to-day, I do not court or challenge legal criticism. Never having devoted attention to the subject till the present duty was imposed upon me, a few desultory thoughts collected within a very recent period, and from very limited observation must comprise what I have to say on this occasion.

THE SO-CALLED LIEN LAWS

confer no boon upon the giver, but the holder of a lien. A man's right to give a lien upon his property or the anticipated products of his labor is unquestioned and indefeasible. Indeed it is as inalienable as his right to exercise his muscles or to labor. The prospective results or profits of his labor are as much his property as his house, his horse, or his lands, and under ordinary circumstances he has as much right to pledge, pawn or sell these profits as he has to hire or sell his horse, his house, or his lands before he has derived any benefit from either by its use. Yet, notwithstanding it might be very impolitic on the part of government to enforce a compliance in every instance with such pledges or contracts, by legal enactments. Allusion is made to these things because many persons seem to think the Legislature has conferred a great and inestimable benefit upon the agricultural community in enabling them, by means of liens upon their crops to purchase their necessary supplies of food, fertilizers, and so forth. This is a great mistake. The Legislature has usually been rather chary of such favors to the tillers of the soil. They have more frequently been ready to bend "the pregnant hinges of the knee, where thrift may follow fawning." The special privileges granted, and the extraordinary benefits conferred by lien laws were designed to protect the money lenders, not the agriculturist; the seller, not the purchaser of supplies. Does any one doubt this? Let him point to a single feature of these laws, that favors the buyer, or confers upon him one solitary right he did not possess before. Nay, let him point to a single provision that does not enure to the benefit of the money-lender by enabling him more surely to assert his claims, and shylock like, more successfully appropriate his coveted pound of flesh. The lien laws seem to have been designed as a prelude to the repeal of the usury laws. The people were not yet ready to stop their ears to the cry of the extortioner's victim, nor to ignore the fact attested by the experience of former generations. Hence, these enactments to enable the money-lender to exact usurious interest without incurring the penalties of law, and step by step lead the public mind to tolerate the grand consummation of his unhallowed designs. Under the specious pretext of extending relief to the impoverished farmer, by enabling him to bring again into tillage his fields, abandoned from demoralized labor and diminished pecuniary resources, a system has been inaugurated and carried out, which has brought the agricultural interests of the State to the verge of ruin. Like the vampire, fanning with deceitful wings, while it draws the life-blood of it's victim, extortioners have drank up the vital resources of the people, while beguiling their unsuspecting dupes with the assurance that their exactions were benefactions in disguise. And even now, like harpies, they are perched on elevated points watching the paralyzed and almost lifeless body of agriculture, gloating in imagination over the disgusting carnival in which they hope so soon to participate. Although, for several years past, improved methods of culture and propitious seasons have poured into the lap of the Southern agriculturist the golden treasures of a genial climate and generous soil; although bounteous crops of our fleecy staple have borne a price almost unknown for a generation past, and scattered amongst us in uncounted millions of money, to-day many cannot pay their debts; to-day many cannot supply their wants of food and clothing, aye, to-day gaunt famine, with sunken eye and skinny visage and ghastly, grinning smile, stands sentinel at many a door-step and threatens to stalk, specter-like, around many a fireside ere vernal showers and summer suns shall again carpet the earth in green, and ripen and usher in the expected harvest. But what dread power, we ask, has thrown this dark shadow over the prospects of our fair and fruitful land? What fell fiend has cast upon our cherished hopes disappointment, and blasting and mildew? We answer Credit. Credit, the prolific source of evil, is the Pandora's box from which have issued most of the ills that afflict us. Credit has spread sadness and pain and panic and want and ruin in our pathway. And the most potential agent in extending the credit system, and intensifying its evils in our unhappy State, has been the lien laws. The have given rise to a spirit of and adventure, hitherto altogether unparalleled in this section of our country. The facility with which corn and flour and meat and fertilizers and indeed every other article necessary for running a farm or plantation, could be procured in advance by means of liens on crops has occasioned an extravagant use of all articles thus procured, on the principle that men never use with frugality or properly appreciate those things for which they have not paid the price in labor. It has, moreover, induced multitudes, whose resources were inadequate to farm or plant on any other than a very limited scale, to rush headlong into a boundless field of speculation. Lured by the delusive prospect of speedily placing themselves in the proud and independent position of planters of ante bellum days, they have forgotten to estimate the enormous and consuming rate of interest they have been required to pay for their accommodations, and have never stopped to calculate the chances or consequences of failure. Other multitudes have availed themselves of these accommodations from far more ignoble motives, and with even less regard to the probable pecuniary advantages that might accrue to themselves. With the contemptible vanity of appearing to fill the roll of the landed proprietor, during the palmy days of the South, or entertaining the pitiable opinion that labor (especially on the farm), is degrading, or from downright laziness, they have consented to become the minions of the capitalist, and incur obligations for rent, hire of labor, and supplies, to such an extent, that any one who has brain enough to perform a simple operation in the rule of three, cannot fail to see that all they can hope to gain is exemption from the necessity of following the plow or wielding the hoe. They have been properly said to run farms for the benefit of city capitalists. And they thereby transfer to the city what should go to swell the accumulated wealth and resources of the country, there to be employed in increasing and perpetuating the very evils they have brought upon agriculture. The imitative negro, following closely the example of the latter class, and being enabled by the same laws to assume similar obligations, squats upon some pine-barren, where he may be often seen sunning himself in front of his pine log shanty, the smoke from his pipe curling leisurely above his head, while he looks out upon his brush fence-patch and long eared donkey and emaciated dog, big with the idea that he is "monarch of all he surveys," and presenting a spectacle not less picturesque than sublimely ridiculous. No one doubts that the lien laws largely increase the cotton crop and thereby depress the price of that article—largely increase the labor of the producer, without correspondingly increasing his profits. He who has large liabilities to meet on the first of November will certainly plan more largely of those crops most readily convertible into money at that season of the year, and thus inevitably curtail the grain crop. This, in turn, renders a resort to the lien laws a necessity for the succeeding year. And if unrepealed they will continue to reproduce and increase the necessity for their existence, annually widening and perpetuating their evil influences, till, in the language of a distinguished Georgia orator, we shall become "the poorest and most abject race the sun has ever shined upon." But independently of the effects produced by the large increment contributed to the grand total of the cotton crop of the South, the operation of these laws temporarily depresses the price by glutting the market on or about the 1st of November every year.

Cotton buyers and speculators doubtless anxiously await this, to them, annually returning festival. The vast amount of the staple, from necessity, thrown upon the market at this juncture lowers the price, which usually continues in a languishing condition till after the Christmas holidays, by which time the bulk of the crop has passed from the hands of the producer. Thus capitalists and middle-men are enabled to reap a harvest of wealth from the

HARD EARNINGS OF THE TOILING MILLIONS.

And by pursuing their hand to mouth policy, the agricultural population of this country are fast descending year by year in the scale of independent manhood, and will continue to descend till they reach the degraded position to which I have above alluded. But the poverty, great and abject as it is, is not the only, nor perhaps the greatest, evil these laws contribute so largely to entail upon the present and succeeding generations.

They tried to undermine and corrupt the morals of the people. The straits to which they are driven teaches them arts of shrewdness and trickery, and tempts and encourages to practice evasion and double-dealing, till very many become adepts in the sharpers keenness. We are taught, by one author, and truly taught, that an honest man is the noblest work of God. No matter what ... of wealth, or fame, or polish of manners, or geniality of ... if he is destitute of integrity

I submit to you, my friends, if the conditions imposed upon a man by the provisions of the lien laws are not calculated to lessen his self respect and wound his self-love; to convince him that his honor and his bond are highly esteemed or despised, that terms no more rigorous could be exacted from an acknowledged thief, and to remind him of the fact that there was a time when the very offer of such conditions would have been regarded by him as an insult and an outrage. Who does not feel and know ... the strongest incentives to virtue is the ... of our fellow-men? But when this has ... for it have been substituted the scorn and ... of mankind, not only has one of the most effectual obstacles to vicious indulgence been removed, but too often the barriers of self respect and self love broken down, and thus the way opened and the descent made easy to the commission of crime that crowds our jails and peoples our penitentiaries. But the baleful effects of the moral evils, superinduced by submission to the requirements of these laws, will not cease with the generation now upon the stage of action. Long after those whose moral natures have been contaminated shall have passed away, and their bodies mingled with their mother dust, the poison, transmitted to their offspring, and propagated by the influence of example, shall survive a heritage of infamy, and a curse to the world. The effects of these laws upon the labor of the country is deplorable. The negroes, who, as it is honestly believed, constitute the best and most reliable, if not the only class of laborers we shall ever be able to procure, dazzled and bewildered by the unexpected advent of freedom to their race, were, for a time, sadly unreliable. But stern necessity was fast bringing them to see and feel their dependence upon the superior race, and gradually forcing them into the line of duty. They were awakening from the dream of forty acres and a mule, and beginning to feel they must cultivate the soil for the land owners in order to procure the necessaries of life, when, lo! the lien laws appear! Again the vision of forty acres and a mule flits through their excited imagination. They are elated with the idea of elevating themselves in the social circle by becoming house holders and managers of farms. They are fired with the ambition to ride or drive their own horses or mules to church on Sunday, and employ their time during the week as inclination prompts.

THIS IS GLORIOUS FREEDOM,

for which in their heart of hearts they have so long sighed, but which they had well nigh abandoned as an impracticable idea. They are now fast withdrawing themselves from the guidance and direction of the superior intelligence of the white man, and setting up for themselves, by renting spots of refuse land, the whole product of which would be insufficient, in many cases, to support honest men. Procuring fertilizers by means of crop liens, they are enabled to pay their rents. They procure their food and clothing, I know not how—by hook or by crook. It is in vain to say, this state of things will not last.

That the negro cannot make money in this way, and will therefore soon fall back into the old track. With his love of ease and thriftless habits, he will never lay up money under any circumstances, but will ever conform to the instincts of his nature, which will keep him in poverty and doom him to be forever a hewer of wood and drawer of water to those endowed with superior energy and loftier ambition. It would seem, therefore, that so far as his pecuniary interests are concerned the lien laws can and will make but little difference. But whatever real or imaginary good or evil may result to the negro from the course he has been induced to take, and the policy he has adopted, many of us know, from sad experience, that it is fraught with evil and only evil to the white race. This is proclaimed trumpet tongued by the wretched condition of our plantations and farms; by much of our uplands running to waste, and all overgrown with weeds and bushes and brambles; by our bottom lands, whose semi-tropical verdure was once the delight of our eyes, and whose rich autumnal stores of grain brought joy and gladness to our hearts, now being overspread with seedy ferns and marshes clad in rush and worthless grass, and fast lapsing into the worthlessness for which they were noted before their reclamation; by our ruinous fences and dilapidated barns, and by the spirit of sadness which, like the genius of desolation and decay, broods over our once cheerful and prosperous and well preserved rural homes. Perhaps the whole of this gloomy state of things is not directly attributable to the abuse of the lien laws.

Yet, many of the worst features of the case unmistakably declare their origin to be from this pregnant source of ill. But grave and multitudinous as are the evils that result from the operation of these laws, it would not be right to close our eyes to the possible good to be derived through their instrumentality, especially at the present juncture. They have now been in force long enough for the people to have accommodated themselves to the changes which they inaugurated, and to have incorporated those changes in their policy of hiring labor and renting lands, and in their plans generally of farm or plantation operations. When the interests of a whole people are involved, it is the part of wisdom to avoid sudden changes in laws, and sudden transitions in policy on the part of governments. Multitudes have not produced grain enough this year to supply their necessities till Christmas, certainly not till harvest, and on account of the too low price of cotton, will not have the means after paying their debts, to supply their actual wants of meat and bread. And how shall those who have neither corn nor cotton, meat nor money, land nor credit, through the long and weary months that must intervene between this and the time when they can supply their wants from the products of their own labor? Under all the circumstances the question presents itself, whether we shall not for a time, "rather bear the ills we have than fly to those we know not of." The lien laws seem to furnish an available resource in this emergency. And satisfactory provision for the difficulty in question should be an indispensible preliminary to their unconditional repeal. To curtail credit as much as possible, ("a consummation most devoutly to be wished,) such provisions as apply to the purchase of fertilizers might be at once stricken from the statute book; but those that apply to the purchase of food supplies might remain in force till the first of October next. The investigation and discussion of this subject by the members of our fraternity seem peculiarly fitting and appropriate, because as Patrons of Husbandry we feel, or ought to feel a deep personal interest in everything that promotes or retards the advance of agriculture, and because the losses resulting from the abuse of the credit system fall with most crushing weight upon those following our vocation. Let us prove true to the interest of our profession, striving to elevate those engaged in it to a higher grade in the social scale, and

FEED AND CLOTHE THEMSELVES

BY PRECEPT AND EXAMPLE

point out the road to success and lead the way. Be it ours by co-operative effort to illustrate the profitableness of raising our own supplies at home, and making our cotton a surplus crop. This example universally followed will usher in the dawn of a brighter day. Then this sunny land of ours shall rise from its ruins, like the Phoenix from its ashes, and reassert its claim to be the gem of the continent and the Republic's crown of glory. Then shall the Patrons of Husbandry be enabled to look with pity and contempt upon the puny efforts of ignorance to traduce, and malice to degrade them. Then shall they exultingly press forward towards the attainment of the ultimate objects of our order—the elevation of agriculture to the

and the exhibition of our Heaven appointed profession as the parent and guardian, as well as the foundation and support of every other. Then peerless among the professions of this broad land, it shall occupy its exalted position at the head of all others, with posts and attitude as sublime as Mount Atlas, rearing aloft his cloud-capt summit heedless of the lightnings and storms and tempests that play around it, and proudly bearing on his brawny shoulders the superincumbent heavens.

Southern Masonic Female College.

Editors Constitution: I see in your issue of to-day a reference to the Southern Masonic Female College which is calculated to make a false, and perhaps an injurious, impression. I know not its source, nor do I profess to divine its purpose. It certainly is, or ought to be, known to the people of the State very generally by this time that I have kept a large and efficient corps of teachers in our school ever since I took charge of it. What I may do in future correspondents might well wait to see. Professor Jones, "with his experience and success" as a teacher, retires, after a brief connection, according to contract and so have two lady teachers who are all highly appreciated in their office; but there are still others to retire, and many noble ones, the services of whom can be had as needed.

I have authorized no one to give forth such an idea as would seem covertly to be brought out in the language, "President Bradshaw will be assisted by his three daughters."

While Professor Jones retires, I return myself to the post of instructor with not less than two lady teachers never heretofore having had connection with the College, viz: Miss M. M. Allen and Mrs C. B. Goodman, over and above my two daughters, remain to do that valuable service which they are capable of rendering.

Please give this an insertion to correct the impression likely to be made by such articles as you have given. Assuring you, my dear sirs, that while we have had eight teachers in the past we are to have no less a number in the future.

Respectfully,
J. N. BRADSHAW,
President Southern Masonic Female College.

OFFICE OF ATLANTA AND RICHMOND AIR-LINE RAILWAY COMPANY.
Atlanta, Georgia, January 13, 1874.

AS in common with many other railroad companies of undoubted solvency, under recent financial disarrangement of almost all railroad interests, the Atlanta and Richmond Air-Line Railway Company has been obliged to defer the payment of interest on its first mortgage bonds due January 1, 1874. The undersigned considers it proper to explain that plans are under consideration with a view to protect the interests of shareholders as well as bondholders, and effect a compromise upon a just and equitable basis. The default of coupons upon mortgage bonds is a benefit to small creditors, as the whole income of the road, as rapidly as it is received, can be applied to payment of their claims, the amount of which is not large.

All bills and accounts will be paid at the office of Company as heretofore. H. HAUPT, General Manager.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPESIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

For sale by all druggists.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS

THE ONLY KNOWN MEDICINE
THAT AT THE SAME TIME
PURGES, PURIFIES AND STRENGTHENS THE SYSTEM

Dr. Tutt's Pills are composed of many ingredients. Prominent among them are Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry, so united as to act together; the one through its admixture with other substances, purifying and purging; while the other is strengthening the system. Thus these Pills are at the same time a tonic and a cathartic, a desideratum long sought for by medical men, but never before discovered. In other words, they do the work of two medicines and do it much better than any two we know of for they remove nothing from the system but impurities so that while they purge they also strengthen, and hence they cause no debility and are followed by no reaction.

Dr. Tutt's Pills have a wonderful influence on the blood. They not only purify without weakening it, but they remove all noxious particles from the chyle before it is converted into fluid, and thus makes impure blood an utter impossibility. As there is no debilitation, so there is no nausea or sickness attending the operation of this most excellent medicine, which never strains or tortures the digestive organs, but causes them to work in a perfectly natural manner: hence persons taking them do not become pale and emaciated, but on the contrary, while all impurities are being removed, the combined action of the Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry purifies and invigorates the body, and a robust state of health is the result of their united action. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists. Depot 48 Courtland street, New York.

"St. Nicholas" and "Our Young Folks."

THE publishers of ST. NICHOLAS, Scribner's Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, take pleasure in announcing that by an arrangement with Messrs. J. R. Osgood & Co. their popular Magazine

"Our Young Folks"

HAS BEEN MERGED IN "ST. NICHOLAS

In addition to the striking novelties and great literary and artistic attractions already offered by "ST. NICHOLAS," THE BEST FEATURES OF "OUR YOUNG FOLKS" will be retained. "ST NICHOLAS" HAS BEEN ENLARGED, new contributions have been secured: among them

A SERIAL STORY BY J. T. TROWBRIDGE

Late Editor of "Our Young Folks," which begins in the present number. Other Eminent writers well known to the readers of "Our Young Folks," have been engaged. We are thus enabled to present to the public a Magazine for Children and Youth, superior in every respect to any ever before published.

Three Splendid Serial Stories:

"WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED,"

A Story for Boys,
By FRANK R. STOCKTON,
Author of "Ting-a-Ling," "Roundabout Rambles," etc. Mr. Stockton is one of the best of our American Writers. The scene of the story is laid in Virginia. The boy-hero has started out with a gun on his shoulder, and we may be sure there will be no end of fun and adventures.

"NIMPO'S TROUBLES."

A Story for Girls,
By OLIVE THORNE (Mrs. Harriet M. Miller,)
A great favorite with the children. It is a good, strong, wholesome story of girl life, and will be full of interest for both boys and girls.

"FAST FRIENDS."

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
One of the most popular writers for young folks in America. Readers of "Jack Hazard," "A Chance for Himself," and "Doing his Best," will understand what a capital treat is in store for them in Mr. Trowbridge's new story. All these Stories will be

Splendidly Illustrated.

"JIMMYJOHN STORIES,"

By Mrs. ABY MORTON DIAZ,
Author of "The William Henry Letters," "William Henry and his Friends," and "Lucy Maria" (who has the rare and happy gift of knowing how to delight young people) will appear during the year. There will also be Shorter Stories, Papers on Science and History, Natural History, Wild sports and Adventures, Sketches of Travel, Fairy Tales, Poems, Puzzles, Charades, Jingles, Fun and Fancy, Instruction, Entertainment and Delight. Something for all, from Father and Mother to the Baby. The illustrations will be the best that the Artists of two continents can supply, and will be printed with the greatest care.

FOR VERY LITTLE FOLKS.

Our pages in big type and easy words for the youngest readers, which have been "a hit" from the first, will be continued. The children will be glad to know also, that the department of

is to be a permanent feature of the magazine. Jack will tell some of the most curious things ever heard, and make himself generally entertaining.

We have undertaken to make the best magazine possible, for the little folks, as well as those who are older. Every number of St. Nicholas will contain good reading matter for boys and girls of all ages besides a great deal of hearty and innocent fun

Christmas comes but once a year, but St Nicholas, the new magazine for girls and boys comes every month. It has already won the hearts of the young folks, and the little Children are Crying for St. Nicholas.

WE WANT 100,000

Children and Youth Made Happy

BY ST. NICHOLAS AT THE HOLIDAYS.

St Nicholas, as enlarged, contains one-third more matter than Our Young Folks, thus giving a great variety for all. With its great Literary and Pictorial Attractions, and its beautiful Printing, it will be found to be the Cheapest Magazine in the World

Subscription Price, $3 a year. The back numbers for November and December, 1873, will be sent to all subscribers for 1874, without additional charge. Four Months for ONE DOLLAR; twenty-five cents a Number. For sale and subscriptions received by all Booksellers and News Dealers on the above terms.

Money may be sent to us in checks payable to our order, or in Post-Office Money Orders, or in Registered Letters. Money in Letters not Registered, at sender's risk.

MODE OF DRAWING.

There will be upon the stage two glass wheels the contents of which can be seen by all the spectators, a committee of two citizens, in no way connected with the management, and of undoubted integrity, having first counted and examined, will place in the larger wheel 12,600 tickets exactly alike and having printed numbers from one to 12,600 corresponding to all the tickets sold. A similar committee, having first counted and examined will place in tubes precisely alike the prizes which are placed in the smaller wheel. Both wheels will then be turned until their contents are thoroughly mixed. A boy under fifteen years of age, blindfolded, will then draw from the larger wheel one of the tickets, and holding it up in full view of the spectators and auditors its number will be called off in the order appointed for this purpose, so that all present may hear. The number will then be passed to the committee of citizens, who will see whether the number has been rightly called. It will then be passed to a registrar, who will file it, and record it upon a book prepared for that purpose. A boy of similar age will then draw from the smaller wheel one of the tubes containing a prize, which will be opened and held up in the view of the spectators and auditors. The value of the real estate prize will then be cried, and passed to the committee, who after inspection, will give it to another registrar to file and record. The prize thus drawn will belong to the ticket bearing the number drawn immediately before it. Thus the process will continue, drawing first from the large wheel containing the tickets, and then from the small or prize wheel until all the tubes containing the prizes are drawn. An accurate record of the above will be kept on file, certified to by the committee of disinterested citizens officiating.

The Prizes below $300 in value are approximations, and will be determined and paid as follows: The numbers of all the Tickets sold being considered in a circle, numerically formed, and having the highest number 12,600 and the lowest, 1, brought together, then whatever number in this circle may be by lot determined to be entitled to the Capital Prize of $25,000 will be taken as a center, on each side of which the next 300 numbers in numerical order will be counted for the $10 Prizes, thus making on the two sides of Capital the 600 nearest numbers, each of which will be entitled to a Real Estate Prize of $10. All the Tickets drawing larger Prizes will be excluded, and the circle extended to include 600 on both sides of the Capital, being 300 on each side, it being the purpose of the management not to duplicate Prizes.

MONEY—All money received from sale of Tickets will be deposited in Bank immediately on receipt of remittances.

TRANSFER OF TITLES.—Within ten days after the drawing, parties putting Real Estate on the market under this Scheme, are required to make good, valid and unencumbered titles thereto to the Georgia Real Estate and Immigration Company—said Company obligating themselves to transfer such title in fee simple to the party or parties who may draw such Prize of Real Estate.

Tickets can be had on application, personally or by letter, to authorized agents, the managers, or

WHY WILL YE DIE?—Death, or what is worse, is the inevitable result of continued suspension of the menstrual flow. It is a condition which should not be trifled with. Immediate relief is the only safeguard against constitutional ruin. In all cases of suppression, suspension or other irregularity of the "courses," Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the only sure remedy. It acts by giving tone to the nervous centres, improving the blood and determining directly to the organs of menstruation. It is a legitimate prescription, and the most intelligent Doctors use it. Prepared by J. H. Bradfield, druggist, Atlanta, Ga; $1 50 per bottle, and sold by respectable druggists everywhere.

TUSKEGEE, ALA.

MR. L. H. BRADFIELD—Sir: Please forward us, immediately, another supply of BRADFIELD'S FEMALE REGULATOR. We find it to be all that is claimed for it, and we have witnessed the most decided and happy effects produced by it. Very respectfully,
HUNTER & ALEXANDER.

I could add a thousand other certificates; but I consider the above amply sufficient proof of its virtue. All I ask is a trial.

Dr. Calhoun's Liver Pills

I AM engaged in the Manufacture of the Celebrated Family Medicine, known as the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last thirty-five years and has taken precedence over all other Family Preparations, by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supersede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 20 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incident to this climate. With but few exceptions, they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say, during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from Druggists, Merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, RHEUMATISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILLIOUSNESS and SICK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yields readily to this preparation.

DR. TUTT'S VEGETABLE LIVER PILLS

THE ONLY KNOWN MEDICINE

THAT AT THE SAME TIME
PURGES, PURIFIES AND STRENGTHENS THE SYSTEM

Dr. Tutt's Pills are composed of many ingredients. Prominent among them are Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry, so united as to act together; the one through its admixture with other substances, purifying and purging; while the other is strengthening the system. Thus these Pills are at the same time a tonic and a cathartic, a desideratum long sought for by medical men, but never before discovered. In other words, they do the work of two medicines and do it much better than any two we know of for they remove nothing from the system but impurities so that while they purge they also strengthen, and hence they cause no debility and are followed by no reaction.

Dr. Tutt's Pills have a wonderful influence on the blood. They not only purify without weakening it, but they remove all noxious particles from the chyle before it is converted into fluid, and thus makes impure blood an utter impossibility. As there is no debilitation, so there is no nausea or sickness attending the operation of this most excellent medicine, which never strains or tortures the digestive organs, but causes them to work in a perfectly natural manner; hence persons taking them do not become pale and emaciated, but on the contrary, while all impurities are being removed, the combined action of the Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry purifies and invigorates the body, and a robust state of health is the result of their united action. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists. Depot 48 Cortland street, New York.

Late Editor of "Our Young Folk," which begins in the present number. Other Eminent writers well known to the readers of "Our Young Folks," have been engaged. We are thus enabled to present to the public a Magazine for Children and Youth, superior in every respect to any ever before published.

Three Splendid Serial Stories:

"WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN EXPECTED,"

A Story for Boys,
By FRANK R. STOCKTON,
Author of "Ting-a-Ling," "Roundabout Ramble," etc. Mr. Stockton is one of the best of our American Writers. The scene of the story is laid in Virginia. The boy-hero has started out with a gun on his shoulder, and we may be sure there will be no end of fun and adventures.

"NIMPO'S TROUBLES."

A Story for Girls,
By OLIVE THORNE (Mrs. Harriet M. Miller,)
A great favorite with the children. It is a good, strong, wholesome story of girl life, and will be full of interest for both boys and girls.

"FAST FRIENDS."

By J. T. TROWBRIDGE,
One of the most popular writers for young folks in America. Readers of "Jack Hazard," "A Chance for Himself," and "Doing his Best," will understand what a capital treat is in store for them in Mr. Trowbridge's new story. All these Stories will be

Splendidly Illustrated.

"JIMMYJOHN STORIES,"

By Mrs. ABY MORTON DIAZ,
Author of "The William Henry Letters," "William Henry and his Friends," and "Lucy Maria" (who has the rare and happy gift of knowing how to delight young people) will appear during the year. There will also be Shorter Stories, Papers on Science and History, Natural History, Wild Sports and Adventures, Sketches of Travel, Fairy Tales, Poems, Puzzles, Charades, Jingles, Fun and Fancy, Instruction, Entertainment and Delight. Something for all, from Father and Mother to the Baby. The illustrations will be the best that the Artists of two continents can supply, and will be printed with the greatest care.

FOR VERY LITTLE FOLKS.

Our pages in big type and easy words for the youngest readers, which have been "a hit" from the first, will be continued. The children will be glad to know also, that the department of

is to be a permanent feature of the magazine. Jack will tell some of the most curious things ever heard, and make himself generally entertaining.

We have undertaken to make the best magazine possible, for the little folks, as well as those who are older. Every number of St. Nicholas will contain good reading matter for boys and girls of all ages besides a great deal of hearty and innocent fun.

Christmas comes but once a year, but St Nicholas, the new magazine for girls and boys comes every month. It has already won the hearts of the young folks, and the little Children are Crying for St Nicholas.

WE WANT 100,000

Children and Youth Made Happy

BY ST. NICHOLAS AT THE HOLIDAYS.

St Nicholas, as enlarged, contains one-third more matter than Our Young Folks, thus giving a great variety for all. With its great Literary and Pictorial Attractions, and its beautiful Printing, it will be found to be the Cheapest Magazine in the World.

Subscription Price, $3 a year. The back numbers for November and December, 1873, will be sent to all subscribers for 1874, without additional charge. Four Months for ONE DOLLAR; twenty-five cents a Number. For sale and subscriptions received by all Booksellers and News Dealers on the above terms.

Money may be sent to us in checks payable to our order, or in Post-Office Money Orders, or in Registered Letters. Money in Letters not Registered, at sender's risk.

MODE OF DRAWING.

There will be upon the stage two glass wheels the contents of which can be seen by all the spectators. A committee of two citizens, in no way connected with the management, and of undoubted integrity, having first counted and examined, will place in the larger wheel 12,600 tickets exactly sold, and having printed numbers from one to 12,600 corresponding to all the tickets sold. A similar committee, having first counted and examined, will place in tubes precisely alike the prizes which are placed in the smaller wheel. Both wheels will then be turned until their contents are thoroughly mixed. A boy under fifteen years of age, blindfolded, will then draw from the larger wheel one of the tickets, and holding it up in full view of the spectators and auditors its number will be called in the order appointed for this purpose, so that all present may hear. The number will then be passed to the committee of citizens, who will say whether the number has been rightly called. It will then be passed to a registrar, who will file it, and record it upon a book prepared for that purpose. A boy of similar age will then draw from the smaller wheel one of the tubes containing a prize, which will be opened and held up in the view of the spectators and auditors. The value of the real estate prize will then be cried, and passed to the committee, who after inspection, will give it to the registrar to file and record. The prize so drawn will belong to the ticket bearing the number drawn immediately before it. Thus this process will continue, drawing first from the large wheel containing the tickets, and then from the small or prize wheel until all the tubes containing the prizes are drawn. An accurate record of the above will be kept on file, certified to by the committee of disinterested citizens officiating.

The Prizes below $300 in value are approximations, and will be determined and paid as follows: The numbers of all the Tickets sold being considered in a circle, numerically formed, and having the highest number 12,600 and the lowest, 1, brought together, then whatever number in this circle may be by lot determined to be entitled to the Capital prize of $25,000 will be taken as a center, on each side of which the next 300 numbers in numerical order will be counted for the $10 Prizes, thus making on the two sides of the Capital the 600 nearest numbers, each of which will be entitled to a Real Estate Prize of $10. All the Tickets drawing larger Prizes will be excluded, and the circle extended to include 600 on both sides of the Capital, being 300 on each side, it being the purpose of the management not to duplicate Prizes.

MONEY—All money received from sale of Tickets will be deposited in Bank immediately on receipt of remittances.

TRANSFER OF TITLES.—Within ten days after the drawing, parties putting Real Estate on the market under this Scheme, are required to make good, valid and unencumbered titles thereto to the Georgia Real Estate and Immigration Company—said Company obligating themselves to transfer such title in fee simple to the party or parties who may draw such Prize of Real Estate.

Tickets can be had on application, personally or by letter, to authorized agents, the managers, or
